Alfred Hitchcock

When Boys Leave Home – 1927

Public schoolboy Roddy Berwick is expelled from school when he takes the blame for a friend's theft and his life falls apart in a series of misadventures (AKA Downhill).

The 39 Steps 1935

A man in London tries to help a counterespionage agent. But when the agent is killed and he stands accused, he must go on the run to both save himself and also stop a spy ring trying to steal top secret information.

The Farmer's Wife 1928

Long believed lost, this stands as a fine example of the master's lighter touch. This comedy centers around a farmer whose wife dies in the first reel, he then spends the rest of the film searching for a new one. His methods and the women's reactions are reminders of the gentle comedy that was possible only on the silent screen.

The Man Who Knew Too Much 1934

Edna Best, Nova Pilbeam, Peter Lorre and Leslie Banks star in the spy thriller. Though it may well be dated, it is still more fun to watch than Hitchcock's own 1956 remake.

Manxman 1928

Carl Brisson stars as a fisherman who is lost at sea. When he returns he finds that his girl friend is expecting his best friend's baby

Number 17 1927

A fine crime drama that was to set the pace for many of Hitch's climax scenes to come. A Jewel thief helps the police track down her former gang.

The Pleasure Garden 1925

Hitchcock's first directorial credit; filmed before, but released after "The Lodger". Patsy Brand is a chorus girl at the Pleasure Garden music hall. She gets Jill Cheyne a job as a dancer. Jill meets, marries & cheats on Hugh Fielding.

Easy Virtue 1927

Ian Hunter and Isabel Jeans star in this social melodrama about a married woman who falls in love with a young man who later kills himself.

Waltzes From Vienna 1933

The master's least favorite film. On one DVD we offer both the original UK and shortened French versions.

The Lodger 1926

First of three film versions under this title of the Jack The Ripper story. This was the first Hitchcock film to exhibit all of the master's dynamic visual touches.

The Skin Game 1932

John Galsworthy's popular play about a land owner who hates his self made neighbor shines with the talents of Edmund Gwenn, Helen Haye and Frank Lawton.

Secret Agent 1936

It took the direction of the master and a power house cast to put this over. Robert Young, Peter Lorre, John Gielgud, Lilli Palmer and Madeleine Carroll star in this spy drama.

Champagne 1927

Early Hitchcock comedy concerning a millionaire who pretends to go bankrupt to teach his daughter a lesson. Betty Balfour and Jean Bradin star

Jamaica Inn 1939

Hitchcock's last British film before heading to the US and turning out Rebecca! If you're looking for a great Hitchcock movie – don't look here – but if you want a good film with an ample side of ham provided by Laughton – well this is the place. And Maureen O'Hara is not hard to look at either.

Rich and Strange 1932

Least common of the early sound films by Hitchcock. Again the first 7 min or so is a visual montage orchestrated to sounds and music (no dialogue) that show a man's frustration with his dull life. This remains a bizarre and engrossing entry.

Murder 1930

Herbert Marshall, in his first speaking role, is Sir John in the fine who done it. Here Marshall is a juror who sets out to prove that a convicted girl is innocent of murder.

The Lady Vanishes 1936

While traveling in continental Europe, a rich young playgirl realizes that an elderly lady seems to have disappeared from the train.

Sabotage 1936

Fine performances by Sylvia Sydney, John Loder and (as the foreign agent passing himself off as a London movie house owner) Oscar Homolka highlight this suspense thriller.

The Ring 1927

Carl Brisson, Charles Farrell and Ian Hunter star in this fine silent drama. Brisson is a circus attraction called "One Round" Sanders who's in love with Lilian Hall-Davis (the girl in the box office). He meets his match in the ring and with Davis, when pro-boxer Hunter comes on the scene.

Blackmail 1929

Though this was to be the Master's first talking film, the first 10 min. are a montage narrated by sound without dialogue.

Young and Innocent 1937

Nova Pilbeam is a girl on the run, when her boyfriend is suspected of murder. All of the master's touches are present to highlight this chase drama.
